WHAT IS THE BDF ARTIST-IN-RESIDENCE INITIATIVE?

- - - - X

Brighton Dance Festival is dedicated to providing young dancers the opportunity to receive professional training in an open, inclusive and inspiring atmosphere. To build on this mission in 2017, BDF will host Christopher K. Morgan & Artists, a Washington D.C.-based professional contemporary dance company. The company will teach daily classes, set a piece of choreography on a group of students, participate in panel discussions with the community, and present a dance concert on stage at the Brighton Center for the Performing Arts at the end of the two weeks. With your help, the 2017 BDF will be a one-stop-shop for dance students to learn new techniques from some of the best educators in the industry, develop lasting relationships, and be surrounded by cultural and racial diversity to help build a strong sense of community and understanding.

“

This week was an amazing experience. I just want to give my thanks to the faculty for providing a judgement-free environment where I never felt uncomfortable trying something new, or completely letting go. BDF is such an uplifting place and I enjoyed every moment I was here.
